The place to book your next team meeting

Novant Health
Conference Center

At our high-tech meeting center, we provide the space, technology, refreshments and support so you can focus on the work at hand and achieve your goals.

Access, elegance and functionality are built into every aspect of the Novant Health Conference Center's 26,000 square feet of meeting and convention space.

Coordinating your meeting

Your team will be able to gather in one large space or flow smoothly between smaller rooms for breakout sessions. Our flexible state-of-the-art space makes planning much easier. Whether you are organizing a conference for hundreds or an executive-level retreat for dozens, you'll appreciate how the thoughtful design of the Conference Center simplifies your meeting logistics.

Coordinating your conference

From pre-planning to the closing speech, you can count on our center manager to help deliver a flawless experience for you and your guests.

What's included

Catering: Food and beverages are provided solely by Morrison Food Services through the hospital food and nutrition department.

Environmental services: Our center manager will work with you on a professionally designed and flexible room setup.

Who can use the center

The Conference Center is available to showcase the clinical practice, research and achievements of Novant Health; provide space for professional training and development; house events for the community, sponsored by Novant Health; and provide space for Novant Health-sponsored community health education events.
